

Delivery Services

Turning Strategy into Real-World Results

Why Delivery Matters

A brilliant strategy and a well-structured plan only matter if they're executed effectively. Delivery is where transformation takes shape—where systems are implemented, processes are embedded, and people embrace change.

In this stage, JBF guides the design, planning, implementation, and deployment of your logistics solution with precision. We balance cost, time, and risk to ensure your system not only goes live but delivers the measurable outcomes your business is depending on.

What Delivery Includes

Delivery is more than flipping the switch on new technology. It's the stage where strategy becomes operational reality—where detailed designs are translated into working systems, and your people, processes, and data come together. JBF takes accountability for every step, ensuring nothing is left to chance.

» Project & Vendor Management (PMO)

We act as the central command, orchestrating vendors, partners, and internal teams to keep programs on time, on budget, and on scope.

» Holistic Design & Build

From detailed designs to system integration and configuration, we ensure your logistics solution is engineered for resilience and scalability.

» Change Management & Training

Technology only succeeds when people adopt it. We prepare your team with training, communications, and organizational alignment to drive confidence and buy-in.

“The JBF team has supported us at every level — providing strategic guidance, solving complex problems, and diving in to configure master data. I couldn't recommend JBF more highly.”

› Testing & Validation

Comprehensive system, integration, and user testing confirm your solution works as intended before go-live—minimizing risk and surprises.

› Go-Live & Stewardship

We manage cutover planning and hands-on support during launch, then transition ownership smoothly to your team while remaining a trusted resource long after.

By combining disciplined project management with pragmatic change leadership, JBF makes delivery a confident step forward—not a leap into the unknown. The result is a system that works, a team that's ready, and a launch you can trust.

Clear Outcomes You Can Count On

Every Delivery engagement should end with more than just a go-live date — it should create measurable business impact and a foundation for future growth. JBF ensures you walk away with outcomes that prove value, reduce risk, and prepare your organization for long-term success.

› Validated Solution

Thoroughly tested across systems and user groups to ensure it performs as promised.

› Implementation Roadmap

Clear milestones, RACI, and alignment to the business case that drive accountability and transparency.

› Change Adoption

Training, communication, and stakeholder engagement that build confidence and minimize resistance.

› Operational Readiness

People, processes, and data fully aligned so your organization is equipped to run day one.

› Successful Go-Live

A supported launch with structured hyper-care, ensuring continuity and momentum after deployment.

The outcome isn't just a functioning system — it's an organization ready to operate with confidence, deliver results, and scale for what's next. That's the JBF definition of success.

The JBF Difference

Delivery is where projects can falter—but with JBF, you get a partner who is accountable from start to finish.

➤ Experience That Matters

Decades of logistics and TMS implementation expertise mean we have seen and dealt with the risks and challenges and know how to address them with minimal impact

➤ Structured Yet Flexible

Our proven methodology tailored to your strategy, needs, and business

➤ Stewardship

We invest in your long-term success. Setting you up to manage and grow with the system from day one to long after launch is part of our approach

➤ Business Outcomes First

Any project is only a success if it enables lasting operational improvement.
